

Library of
The University of North Carolina

COLLECTION OF
NORTH CAROLINIANA

ENDOWED BY JOHN SPRUNT HILL
of the class of 1889

C 378-UT2

1914-15
v. 3

*This book must not be taken from the Library
building.*

16. 4. 2

THE ALUMNI REVIEW

Volume III

MARCH, 1915

Number 6

OPINION AND COMMENT

The University Campus was gripped in a very sane and powerful way by the Mott meetings. These meetings were not a three-day emotional revival but were a matter of months of preparation and are now a matter of months conservation. A large proportion of the student body were actively forward-looking to the coming of Mr. Mott and a larger number are now permanently tied up with religious interests, Bible Study, mission courses, and social service. Seventeen men are at work in the negro night school and Sunday Schools. Sixteen other men are engaged in the club work and newly organized night school in the mill community. Sixty-five men were in the rural Sunday School work, February 28, teaching classes, leading the singing and organizing new schools. Increased enrollments have been made for the spring study courses: "The New Era in Asia" under Mr. Thornton of the English department; "The Christian Equipment of War," Dr. H. W. Starr; "Present Forces in Negro Progress," Prof. E. C. Branson; "The Challenge of the Country," Rev. W. D. Moss; and "Christian Standards in Life" in the dormitory discussion groups.

□ □ □

While Dr. Mott made a powerful impression on the student body, he was in turn deeply impressed by the University and its student body. In an interview which appeared in the Charlotte Observer upon his leaving Chapel Hill, he made comments which will be interesting to all University alumni and which are significant in view of the fact that Dr. Mott has been on the inside of college life in every nation of the earth. Below are fragments of the Charlotte interview:

"In its spirit of democracy, your University is the equal of any college or university in the United States or in the world, and in fact in this respect it is superior to most of them. When you consider how indispensable this spirit of democracy is to the life of your State and to the Nation, you will realize what a fine thing it is that your future leaders are being trained up in an atmosphere of this kind."

Dr. Mott was told that the statement is occasionally made that the University is not a religious place.

"There are four things which make it impossible for the charge you mentioned to be sustained. Ninety per cent of the students are church members. The faculty is composed of Christian gentlemen. The Churches of the village are earnestly at work among the students. The Y. M. C. A. of the students themselves is a splendidly managed organization. My observation convinces me that there is a deep and devout religious feeling throughout the student body. I have conducted meetings similar to the meetings just held in almost all universities on this continent. Never have I seen a greater proportion of the student body constantly in attendance. Never have I seen a greater proportion make decisions for Christ."

□ □ □

The season for the high school debates is again on. The date for the State-wide discussion of the ship subsidy question is March 26th, at which time an even thousand students, representing two hundred and fifty schools located in ninety counties, will participate in the debate. The finals will be held at Chapel Hill on April 9th. As in previous years, the debaters who come to the University will be entertained by the student body and the faculty.

The remarkable growth of the Debating Union from ninety schools in 1913 to two hundred and fifty in 1915 emphasizes the need, on the part of the alumni in the communities in which the local debates are held, to see to it that they are properly officered and that everything connected with the local contests goes off well. The task of looking after this is too great for the Secretary at the University, and the hearty co-operation of the alumni is absolutely essential if the event is to be carried through as it should be. The occasion gives the local alumni a splendid opportunity to play the part of host and The Review is sure that they will take advantage of it.

□ □ □

In 1914, county commencements were held in forty-one North Carolina communities and during the coming April plans are being made for the holding of similar meetings in an even greater number of counties.

While these commencements are primarily concerned with the elementary schools of the counties, it is the privilege of the University to interest itself in

THE MOTT MEETINGS

AS DR. MOTT SEES US

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATES

COUNTY COMMENCEMENTS

them and aid in their development in every way possible. To this end it is suggesting to the county clubs organized at the University and to the local alumni associations that they co-operate with the directors of the commencements in making them truly successful. Attendance at the University entails a distinct obligation in matters of public welfare on the man who has been a student at the Hill. THE REVIEW has no definite suggestion to make as to how this obligation in this particular instance may be met. The offer of a prize for some event in the commencement under the name "The University of North Carolina Prize in ————" or a brief, clear cut statement about the value of a high school and collegiate education might well be worth while. The real point is: develop some idea and put it through effectively.

While the General Assembly at Raleigh was considering the State Highway Commission bill, the second Good Roads Institute was being held at the University under the auspices of the department of Civil and Highway Engineering and the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey. In this Institute, which brought together a total of eighty visitors, not including the local members and the students in the highway engineering classes of the University, many problems involved in the construction of roads were thoroughly discussed. Expert opinion, illustrations from roads built, and all the resources of the Geological Survey and the University department were in evidence, and the meeting lasting throughout four days gave impetus to the work of road construction in North Carolina. From every point of view the meeting was successful and its continuation for next year was recommended.

Plans for the inauguration of President Graham on April 21st are going rapidly forward and at this date it is apparent that the event is to be one of the most distinctive in the history of the University. More than a hundred representatives of the leading colleges and universities and learned societies of the nation have indicated their intention of being in attendance and the program of exercises contains the names of a group of unusually distinguished educators.

Quite naturally the event is to be made an occasion of home-coming for many of the alumni. If you have not planned to be present, read the announcements appearing in this and the February issue and begin at once making your arrangements to have a part in the event.

In no one way can the alumni give the University greater support than in the one particular of putting it in touch with new students and in helping it retain students who have once matriculated. To this end THE REVIEW suggests to the local alumni that they inform the University of any prospective students in their localities and that they give such publicity to the Summer School of 1915 and the regular term of 1915-'16 as will bring the University to the favorable notice of their communities. In extending its service to the State, the alumni can in this way greatly aid their alma mater.

STUDENTS FOR 1915-'16

ALUMNI INVITATIONS TO THE INAUGURATION

One hundred institutions have signified their intention of sending delegates to the Inauguration of President Graham in April. Since the last issue of THE REVIEW a number of names has been added to the list of college presidents who will honor us with their presence.

To the list of speakers is to be added the name of Mr. George Stephens of Charlotte. He will deliver the greetings to the new president on behalf of the alumni. Mr. T. C. Boushall, of Raleigh, a member of the present Senior Class, will speak in behalf of the students of the University.

In a few days invitations will be issued to the alumni. An earnest effort is being made to have this invitation list as complete as possible. But one of the crying needs of the University is an alumni catalogue, and necessarily the list will fall far short of completeness. THE REVIEW assures the alumni, however, that the University extends a most cordial invitation to all her sons and daughters to be present at President Graham's Inauguration, and that if a card fails to reach each one, the failure is due only to the lack of an alumni catalogue.

The Inaugural luncheon will take place at 2 P. M. in Swain Hall. There all University men and women will be hosts in the entertainment of their distinguished visitors. The price of a reservation at the luncheon will be one dollar a plate. The committee expects four or five hundred alumni to be present at the luncheon. THE REVIEW therefore urges all who desire places reserved to send in notice to that effect, together with the check for the necessary amount (made payable to J. A. Warren, Treasurer), as soon as possible. Such communications should be addressed to Prof. George Howe.

THE MOTT MEETINGS

John R. Mott, Leaders in American Student Movements, Alumni, and Student Workers, Conduct a Powerful Campaign for Christian Thinking and Living

The Mott meetings, which were held at the University of North Carolina, February 12-14, were remarkable in their revelation of spiritual power. In preparation for the coming of Mr. Mott, prayer groups of earnest men were meeting daily for many days over the University, in all the dormitories, in some of the fraternity halls, and in other groups whose interests centered in certain Association activities. J. M. Parker of the Junior Class came back from the Penn State meetings running over with ideas and spirit to be translated into the local situation. Over a hundred men had some definite responsibility in connection with the meetings ranging from acting as secretaries of the score of leaders to raising windows for fresh air during an intermediate song.

Into this atmosphere of serious-hearted preparation and prayerful aspiration, Mr. Mott and his associates came with their great messages on sin, God, the reality of Christ as a fighting power for purity, and the great value of the will in making a clear cut decision to pay what it costs to be a sincere follower of Jesus Christ. Ramsaur, Legate, Brockman, Starr, Somerville, Smith, Rondthaler, Patten, Starr, H. W., Moss, Sotekton, Tillett, Rowe, Harris, Hall, Winslow, and others of the delegates and alumni were all over the campus, reinforcing Mr. Mott and multiplying the points of contact with the spirit of the campaign in a deeply personal way. Gilbert Beaver fairly radiated spirituality in his quiet and friendly way. Culver and Epps put the religion of life into the songs. Francis Miller in his face and life told the story of Christ straight to the heart of many men with transforming power.

Practically the entire student body was in constant attendance upon the five addresses. The mass of eager faces as they leaned forward to the messages was inspirational in its appeal to the speaker. Against this tremendous pull, however, Mr. Mott absolutely stripped his thought and his voice of all sentiment and feeling; there were no conscious overtones in the Mott meetings. He talked straight to the reason and won the enduring faith of not only the student body and faculty but also of the alumni who had left their law, business, and college offices to take part in the campaign. Four hundred men—virtually half of the students actually present in college—signed or have since signed the decision cards. Bible study, mission study, and the religious meetings have been reinvigorated. The rural Sunday Schools and community work, the boys' clubs, the negro night school, and all other forms of social service have been crowded with volunteer workers. A night school has been organized in the mill community. Two hundred persistent volunteers are eager to do some sort of active service. Last Sunday after all the regular Sunday Schools in the neighboring country were manned to the limit, a call was made for pioneering in an unoccupied field. Thirty-three men responded on the hour appointed and walked out five miles to a school house and from this as a centre covered the entire community within a radius of three miles. Next Sunday a large Sunday School will be organized in this school house. The past week three students joined the Methodist Church and the other churches will receive new members this week. The follow-up work in all its forms is finding the interest very durable; and the end is not yet.

The Mott campaign was a campaign of friendship. Men in the University of North Carolina are sounding new depths of friendliness and finding vital resources of character-power in an awakened friendship with the spirit and ideals of Christ.

PERSONAL INTERVIEWS

In conducting the campaign, no simple feature was more stressed than that of the personal interviews given by Mr. Mott and his co-workers. These were given by the following workers on the subjects indicated: John R. Mott, Cornell—Life Problems; Gilbert Beaver, Penn State—Prayer; W. W. Brockman, Virginia—Undergraduate Life; R. B. Culver, McMinnville—Missions; J. Harris, A. and M.—Rural Life; R. H. Legate, Vanderbilt—Y. M. C. A. Secretaryship Work; F. Miller, Princeton—College Problems; Rev. W. D. Moss, McGill—Doubts, Ministry; Rev. Walter Patten, Wesleyan—Ministry, Community Work; W. H. Ramsaur, Carolina—Moral Problems. Life Work; Howard Rondthaler, Carolina—Education; Rev. W. R. L. Smith, Virginia—Philosophy, Ministry; Rev. H. W. Starr, Harvard—Ministry, Personal Purity; Somerville, Davidson—Banking, Missions; R. G. Stockton, Carolina—Law; C. W. Tillett, Jr., Carolina—Law, Community Welfare; E. M. Hall—City Y. M. C. A.; Prof. E. L. Starr, Salem College—Education; F. E. Winslow, Carolina—Law, Social Service. Students assisted as secretaries in arranging for the interviews in the rooms in the Y. M. C. A. building, dormitories, and fraternity buildings as follows: J. M. Parker, T. C. Boushall, Hubert Smith, Frank Marsh, E. L. Mackie, R. C. Vaughn, Marion Fowler, F. O. Clarkson, R. B. House, J. R. Edwards, L. H. Edwards, W. P. Fuller, R. E. Parker, E. G. Joyner, Fred Deaton, C. A. Thompson, Julian Hart, John Causler, J. N. Wilson, Wm. Steele, Ralph Stockton, and Far-rar Parker.

A DAILY SCHEDULE

Like the Blue Ridge conferences and the Quadren-nial Student Volunteer Conventions, every moment of the day during the Mott meetings was put to definite service. The schedule for Saturday, February 13, was typical: 7:45 A. M.—Union meeting of leaders, delegates, prayer groups; 8:40-9:25—Con-ference of leaders and delegates; 9:45-12:00—In-terviews; 12:00—Address in Memorial Hall by Mr. Mott; 2:30-5:30 P. M.—Interviews; 7:30-8:30—Address by Mr. Mott in Gerrard Hall; 8:30-9:15—Conferences in dormitories and faternity halls; 8:45-11:00—Interviews.

IN RETROSPECT

Among the outside men who took an active part in the Mott meetings were three members of the Inter-national Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, Mott, Legate, and Miller; one commit-tee chairman of the World's Christian Student Fed-eration, Beaver; one travelling secretary of the Stu-dent Volunteer Movement, Ramsaur; two general secretaries of the Y. M. C. A., Brockman of Virginia, and Hall of the City Assciation at Raleigh; one col-lege president, Rondthaler of Salem College; one college professor, Starr of Salem; three lawyers, Til-lett, Stockton, and Winslow; three association lead-ers, Somerville of Davidson, Rowe of Wake Forest, and Harris of the A. & M. College. A number of other alumni were present among whom were Boushall of Raleigh, Woodall of Dunn, and Pritchett of Kinston. Twenty-odd delegates were present from the colleges of the State.

Hoke Ramsaur, '10, travelling secretary of the Stu-dent Volunteer Movement, was an almost indispensa-ble part of the Mott meetings. He made a jump from the colleges of New England, cutting short his sched-ule there in order to be a co-worker with Mr. Mott among the men of his alma mater. Hoke's seretary was crowded by men desiring interviews on spiritual, moral, and life-work problems.

President Howard Rondthaler held two large conferences of the fraternity men and was especially helpful in his personal interviews.

The Mott meetings were not limited to Carolina in their influence. More than a score of delegates from the State colleges and several representatives from Southern universities were present to have a part in the occasion and take its messages back for radiation from many centres.

Fred McCall '15, carried through a most thorough and extensive publicity plan in preparation for the coming of Mr. Mott. In addition to the posters, dodgers, and bulletin signs, personal notice was given to every man in college except a few who were in the infirmary.

A large canvas banner with an artistic hand-printed sign was stretched across the path at the north en-trance to the campus and a large electric sign flashed intermittently during the late evening the signifi-cant word "M O T T."

Roger McDuffie, Pharmacy '15, was a little Na-poleon in handling his large corps of ushers, card passers and minute window raisers. He directed this important work quietly and with dispatch.

Of the 10,000 cards printed in connection with the Mott meetings, the Morning Watch Cards with prayer thoughts from Phillip Brooks and E. I. Bos-worth were the most helpful in striking a spiritual note.

Mr. Mott conducted his great campaign for higher living among college men at what he considered three of the most strategic centres in the country, Penn State in the East, Kansas in the West, and Carolina in the South. The alumni of the University have a responsibility in conserving and spreading the influ-ence of the Mott meetings.

It is contrary to the spirit of Mr. Mott to stir the surface of a man's emotions and then let him drop. The impressions will endure for their sanity and are being gathered up in a permanent way by a program of conservation which calls into renewed activity all the twenty departments of the Young Men's Chris-tian Association.

The value of the Mott campaign is instanced in the individual decisions of men to absolutely cut with things which were marring their lives and robbing them of power. The more general value is in the deeper spiritual tone, wide as the campus. Several of the morning watch groups continue to meet daily. Other groups meet every night with the purpose of keeping alive the Christ vision of friendliness and service.

LOCAL FRATERNITIES AT THE UNIVERSITY IN 1861

Leroy S. Boyd Contributes an Interesting Chapter on Their Early History at Carolina

Leroy S. Boyd, 604 Harvard St., N. W., Washington, during the past three months has carried on a vigorous search for information concerning various fraternities of the period immediately preceding the Civil War. One in which he has been particularly interested is what is known as the old Kappa Alpha. Information concerning it is as follows and may be of interest to many University men.

KAPPA ALPHA

This fraternity was founded at the University in 1859. On the chapter roll were the University of North Carolina, the University of South Carolina, Furman University, Louisiana Centenary College, and Emory and Henry College. Its secrets were revealed in New York State in 1866 by a disloyal member and soon after, on account of this, it disbanded and the members joined the now defunct order of Phi Mu Omikron. The motto was "Kuklos Adelphon."

PHI MU OMIKRON

Phi Mu Omikron was founded at the University in 1858 with the following chapter roll: University of South Carolina, Wofford College, Emory and Henry College, Charleston College, and Emory and Newberry College. Its badge was a monogram. In 1866 it absorbed the Kappa Alpha fraternity founded at the University in 1859. In 1879 a union was formed by Phi Mu Omikron with Kappa Sigma, the latter taking over the membership of the former organization. The only known member of the old Kappa Alpha was the late Captain Fred N. Nash, of Charlotte, whose death occurred in the month of February, 1915.

From an autograph album which belonged to Wm. C. Michie, '61, of Bastrop, Louisiana, the following information has been secured concerning other fraternities and their membership at the University in 1861.

EPSILON ALPHA

Augustin Micou, New Orleans, La. A. B., 1860. Lt. C. S. A. Born Nov. 7, 1841.

Andrew S. Routh, Lake St. Joseph, La. Class of 1862. Born Jan. 12, 1842. Student 1858-61. Living at Trion, Ga., in Jan., 1915.

Samuel Donelson, Hendersonville, Tenn. Class of 1863. Born Dec. 15, 1844.

Wm. Elza Hunt, Greenville, Miss. A. B., 1861. Born July 26, 1841.

Harry Hill Price, New Orleans, La. Student 1860-1. Born May 8, 1842. Judge City Court, New Orleans.

Geo. B. Hunt, Greenville, Miss. A. B., 1861. Born Jan. 1, 1839. Died 1873. Major C. S. A.

Geo. W. McMillan, New Hanover Co., N. C. A. B., 1861. Born Jan. 25, 1840. Killed in battle.

PHI KAPPA ALPHA

Samuel P. Pool, Elizabeth City, N. C. Student 1858-61. Born June 21, 1842.

Wm. Blackshear Van Derveer, Montgomery, Ala. Student 1859-61. Class of 1862. Born Oct. 25, 1841. C. S. A. Planter, Clio, Texas, in 1889.

IOTA ZETA THETA

Alcée Dupré, Opelousas, La. Student 1859-61. Class of 1862. Born Jan. 25, 1842. Died 1888.

John R. Bowie, Ashwood, La. A. B., 1860. Sgt. C. S. A. Born April 14, 1839. Died 1878. Lake St. Joseph, La.

John Grant Rencher, Santa Fe, N. Mex. A. B., 1862; A. M., 1866. Born Aug. 1, 1840. Lawyer, Pittsboro, N. C., in 1889.

Cornelius Mebane, Mebanville, N. C. A. B., 1860. Adj. C. S. A. Born June 14, 1839. Living at Swepsonville, N. C., in 1889.

Chas. H. Barron, Tarboro, N. C. A. B., 1861. Born Nov. 4, 1839. Physician, Whitakers, N. C., in 1889.

Joseph Van Buren Jenkins, Edgecombe Co., N. C. A. B., 1861. Born Dec. 24, 1840. Died Oct. 7, 1861, Yorktown, Va.

Robt. Laurence Pugh, Albemarle, La. A. B., 1861. Born May 25, 1842. Assumption Parish, La.

Alfred Grayson Thomson, Franklin Parish, La. A. B., 1861. Born Oct. 9, 1838.

Thomas Badger, Raleigh, N. C. Class of 1863. Born Feb. 10, 1843. Railroad business, 1889.

ALPHA OMEGA

Samuel Armstrong Hightower, Homer, Louisiana. A. B., 1860. Born March 21, 1836.

Edwin L. Drake, Fayetteville, Tenn. A. B., 1860. Lt. Col. C. S. A. Born Sept. 23, 1840. Physician, Winchester, Tenn., in 1889.

James O. A. Fogle, Columbus, Ga. A. B., 1860. Born Sept. 12, 1838.

George W. Askew, Columbus, Miss. A. B., 1860. Born Feb. 22, 1838. Living at Stokesville, Miss., Jan., 1915.

Simon Henderson Taylor, Marksville, La. Student 1858-61. Born June 29, 1840. Killed 1861.

Hyder Ali Kennedy, Homer, Louisiana. Class of 1863. Lt. Col. C. S. A. Born April 14, 1840.

ONE THOUSAND DEBATERS TO SPEAK ON MARCH 26

On Friday, March 26th, one thousand boys and girls in different communities of North Carolina will do battle on the query: "Resolved, That the United States should adopt the policy of subsidizing its merchant marine engaged in foreign trade." The occasion is the annual State-wide triangular contest of the High School Debating Union.

Two hundred and fifty schools representing ninety counties of the State now have their earnest attention and effort centered on the triangular debates. All of the schools winning both of their debates will send their teams to Chapel Hill on April 9th to compete in the final contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup. This Cup is the trophy which the inter-collegiate debaters of the University have provided for the school which wins out finally. It was won in 1913 by the Pleasant Garden High School and in 1914 by the Winston-Salem High School.

The question to be discussed by the high school students this year is one of much timeliness and interest. At present only 8.9 per cent of American shipping is carried under the American flag. The young debaters in their eager search for truth and vantage ground will thoroughly thresh out the subsidy as a means of building up the marine. These debates will have a wonderfully instructive effect upon the 50,000 or more North Carolinians who will make up the total audiences.

As a part of the State University's machinery for extending its scope and helpfulness to every section of North Carolina, the High School Debating Union takes front rank. It is safe to say that this series of debates will be the largest in size and most far-reaching in influence of all debate series to be held in the various States of the Union this year.

Since its inauguration two years ago, the growth of the Debating Union has exceeded the hopes of its most sanguine supporters. In 1913, the first year of its existence, there were ninety schools enrolled, with a total of 360 debaters. In 1914, the enrollment of schools was 150, with a total of 600 debaters. In 1915, the enrollment of schools is 250, with a total of one thousand debaters.

The final contest of the Debating Union at Chapel Hill is one of the biggest and most interesting events of the entire college year. The high school debaters together with teachers, principals, and superintendents from all over North Carolina journey to the University and pay a visit. The University students and faculty members give them a hearty welcome and endeavor to show them a genuinely good time during their stay on the Hill. The final debate itself has come to be held in Memorial Hall, so entirely too large are the crowds for Gerrard Hall. This year's final contest on April 9th seems destined to be a record breaker in every respect.

WAYNE COUNTY CLUB OUTLINES PLANS

EDITOR ALUMNI REVIEW:

SIR:—I have asked for this space in THE ALUMNI REVIEW to tell of the plans and activities of the Wayne County Club at the University, incidentally because I believe that the other county clubs will be interested in these plans and activities of ours, but primarily because I feel that these plans and activities if potentially fruitful should not be limited to a single county.

Our work includes the presentation of a loving cup to that school which wins three consecutive track meets at the annual county commencement. Let me add parenthetically that this is the third year that this cup has been in contest.

In addition to this effort on the part of our Club to interest the boys of the county in the University, at some time during the Christmas holidays of each year the resident Alumni and the Wayne County Club give a joint banquet, to which are invited two or three of the faculty from Chapel Hill and the boys of the senior classes of all the high schools of the county and likewise those boys who are at preparatory schools. Through this banquet the young men who are to be at college next year may learn the spirit of the University.

A work of a more individual nature is that which, under the supervision of Professor Branson, we are to make in an intensive study of our county. Ten of our boys have volunteered to treat exhaustively as many subjects relating to Wayne County. The result of each individual study when completed is to be published in the county papers, and later these results collected and put in pamphlet form.

A fourth activity, which if brought to fruition we feel will be of enormous import to the people of the county, is that of the extensive organization of pig and poultry, corn and canning clubs. This work we are to do through the public schools. To this end we have written to the teachers of sixty-five schools throughout the county; have written to Senator Simmons to send to each of these teachers selected literature on the subjects; have asked Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, in charge of the girls' canning clubs of the State, and Prof. T. E. Browne, in charge of the boys' corn clubs of the State, to send if possible one thoroughly competent man to our county to take the situation in hand and start the work of organization. We have also written to one or two farmers in each community and have asked them to assist the teachers in the work of organization, and to influence their neighbors to take a hand in the work; and at the same time we have written the teachers to call upon the farmers of their community, the fathers of the boys and girls through whom they work, for co-operation and assistance. The county papers we have used to make known our plans, that each citizen may feel himself called upon personally to aid in the work.

It is our desire when such clubs have been sufficiently organized to have each Fall in Goldsboro an interesting and instructive exhibition of Wayne County products. As an incentive to the boys and girls, the merchants of the town will be asked to give prizes to those whose exhibit is the best.

Throughout our work we have been actuated by the desire to turn back into the pockets of our farmers a part of the two million dollars which Wayne County sends annually out of its borders for feed and foodstuffs. We do not expect any phenomenal success in our efforts to organize clubs for this purpose but even if one or two such clubs result from our effort we will be satisfied, but by no means content—in fact not content until we have brought about the organization of a pig, a poultry, a corn and a canning club in every school community in Wayne County.

In these, our plans, we have borne in mind a two-fold purpose, first to help our people back home, and second to relate more closely and more vitally our people and their State institution—the University.

W. REA PARKER, '14,

President Wayne County Club.

UNIVERSITY TRUSTEES APPOINTED

At a joint meeting of the Senate and House on February 11, the following men were appointed Trustees of the University:

For terms expiring November 30, 1923: C. Felix

Harvey, Lenoir county, to succeed P. R. Cappelle; Dr. Kemp Battle, Orange, to succeed himself; Col. Benahan Cameron, Durham, to succeed himself; A. H. Eller, Forsyth, to succeed himself; John W. Fries, Forsyth, to succeed himself; Maj. W. A. Guthrie, Durham, to succeed himself; W. L. Hill, Duplin, to succeed E. J. Hale; H. A. Gilliam, Edgecombe, to succeed himself; Graham Kenan, New Hanover, to succeed N. M. Ferebee, resigned; John C. Lamb, Martin, to succeed himself; Dr. R. H. Lewis, Wake, to succeed himself; A. W. McLean, Robeson, to succeed himself; R. D. W. Connor, Wake, to succeed himself; A. G. Mangum, Gaston, to succeed himself; James S. Manning, Wake, to succeed himself; John A. Parker, Mecklenburg, to succeed himself; Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, Buncombe, to succeed himself; Thomas D. Warren, Craven, to succeed himself; W. Frank Taylor, Wayne, to succeed Henry M. Weil, deceased; John K. Wilson, Pasquotank, to succeed himself.

For terms expiring November 30, 1917: Colonel John S. Cunningham, Durham, to succeed J. G. Hannah, Jr., deceased; George C. Green, Halifax, to succeed W. R. Edmonds, deceased.

For terms expiring November 30, 1919: John N. Wilson, Guilford, to succeed David Stern, deceased; Perrin Busbee, Wake, to succeed A. W. Haywood; George H. Humber, Moore, to succeed J. O. Carr; R. B. Redwine, Union, to succeed J. H. Dillard; E. R. Wooten, Lenoir, to succeed himself.

BASKETBALL

A most strenuous season in basketball was concluded by an eight-day trip through Virginia, during which seven consecutive games were played.

Long, Johnson, Tandy, Davis, Andrews, Tennent, Holding, Keesler, Coach Doak, and Assistant-Manager Williams took the trip. Of the seven games played on the trip, three were won, four lost. The loss of some of the games is attributable to the heavy schedule throughout the entire season, to which the eight-day trip was the climax. After the first three games of such a trip the team was crippled and worn out.

A game of basketball is little less strenuous than a game of football and a schedule which fails to take this fact into consideration handicaps the team.

The three games won were against Guilford College, 45 to 27; Roanoke College 18 to 17; S. M. A. 28 to 18. The four lost were to Washington and Lee, 29 to 22; V. M. I., 28 to 24; Virginia, 43 to 26; Lynchburg Y. M. C. A., 63 to 20.

The chief trouble with basketball at the University is found in the fact that basketball does not begin until football is concluded. The success of the season depends upon the interest and energy left over from the football season. The system of class basketball which largely developed this year will serve the purpose of making basketball a fall sport which welcomes but is not altogether dependent upon the winter recruits from the football field.

TRACK

The track men are daily in training for the spring meets. Five of last year's team are back on the course and in the field, Captain Woolcott in the jumps and hurdles; Homewood, pole vault; Smith, the 100 and 220 dashes; Patterson, the quarter; Whiting, the half. Besides these letter-men there are Harrison, Rand, Pitts, McDuffie, and Graham in the runs and Wright for the sprints and jumps. Davis for the shot and Rimmer for the half are the most promising of the new material but Upchurch, Smith, York, and Webb of the freshman class, and Telfair, Hatcher, McKane, and Parker of the upper classes are all out to make good.

Captain Woolcott, with the assistance of Collier Cobb, Jr., and Ralph Spence, is directing the training of the men. The prospects are that, with a schedule of good meets, several Carolina records will be smashed. The team will give a good account of itself in meets with South Atlantic teams. The first meet is with Wake Forest, April 17th, and two other meets will be held with two of the following, V. P. I., V. M. I. and W. & L.

INTER-SCHOLASTIC TRACK MEET TO BE HELD

Announcement has been made of the third annual inter-scholastic track meet of North Carolina, which will be held in Chapel Hill on April 16th. Any secondary or high school in the State is eligible to send representatives to this meet. It is conducted under the auspices of the Greater Council and the General Alumni Athletic Association. The winner of the meet in 1913 was the High Point High School, and the winner in 1914 was the Friendship High School.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL CONTEST

While THE REVIEW is in press the State high school championship contest in basketball is being conducted. The schools taking part in this contest in the east are Goldsboro, Raleigh, Middleburg, Enfield, and Benson. The contestants in the west are the schools of Winston-Salem, Belmont, Asheville, Lexington, Statesville and Matthews. The championship game is to be played in Chapel Hill on March 12th.

VIRGINIA TO GET NEW MATERIAL

The showing made on the gridiron during the past season, together with a formidable schedule for the 1915 season, which includes Yale and Harvard, is already drawing a number of new players to the University, and while the season has been closed only a few months, word has been received from four men who have signified their intention of entering the University next fall.

These four players were members of the Kentucky Military Institute the past season and have well-known records in the Middle West States. Ward, Virginia's left tackle, hails from the same school and was a former teammate of these new men and as Ward experienced no difficulty in landing a regular berth on the Orange and Blue eleven, this speaks well for the new men and should greatly strengthen the Virginia team for 1915.

The players are Peck, right tackle, who weighs 185 pounds; Park, fullback, who tips the scales at 190; Pidgeon, an end, who weighs only 140 pounds, but has the reputation of being the best end in the Middle States. The fourth player is Stanton, who plays at end or tackle. Stanton is a cousin of Forest Stanton, who was a star performer on the University of Virginia football and track teams during the 1910 and 1911 seasons.

The quarterback position made vacant by Bobby Gooch will be sought for by several candidates. Besides Berkeley, who was sub-quarter the past season, and who received his letter, already two new candidates have sent word that they will try for the position. These are Ogglesby, who has been playing for the past two years on a West Virginia prep. school, and Billy Gooch, who is a brother of the famous Bobby. Young Gooch comes with a good record and those who have seen him in action state that he bids fair to follow in the tracks of his brother and again keep the name of Gooch on the list of Virginia gridiron stars for the next four years.—Virginia Alumni News.

WORD LEAVES COLLEGE

"Billy" Word, first baseman on the varsity nine, decided during the Christmas holidays to accept a position as instructor at the Blue Ridge Camp school conducted near Ivy by Mr. Warner Wood, and has entered upon his duties.

Word was one of the best all-round athletes in the University, and his departure leaves quite a gap in athletic circles. He was a star member of the football squad, being Captain Mayer's running mate in the backfield during the season just closed. He was also a member of the track team, being a short distance runner of ability. He was regarded as one of the best first basemen at the University in recent years, and his place will be hard to fill this spring.—Virginia Alumni News.

DON RICHARDSON SOCIETY ORCHESTRA

One of the lasting and most pleasing memories of the commencement of 1914 is that of the music running throughout the entire series of exercises furnished by Don Richardson, formerly of the University and now of New York City. In recent years Richardson's work as a violinist and especially as a director of an orchestra in New York has been so distinctive that it has been made the subject of the following comment in the American Musician, of New York, of February 6th, 1915:

Don Richardson and his New York Society Orchestra are doing big things the present season. This organization is perhaps the newest of the really well known musical bodies doing this particular kind of work here in New York City.

Most of the other well known orchestras and their leaders have been in the city at least several years, but Don Richardson is now playing his third season. In this short time he and his orchestra have played over five hundred engagements, and engagements of a private nature only—this being the policy of the organization. The Don Richardson Orchestra claims the distinction in this short time of three seasons of playing or having played for more clubs than any other leader of society orchestras in New York City. One hundred and twelve clubs are regular patrons of this popular orchestra.

The one prime secret, perhaps, one that has called attention to the uniqueness of the orchestra, is the lively spirit which each member puts into the popular music—and Richardson has supplied at least two numbers on most of his programs which call forth the best spirit of his men.

"Zum," an original one step, with a swing and go from start to finish, bringing in a famous "College Yell," which becomes contagious among all those who hear it, and "Athene," the new waltz, dedicated to the Athene Club of this city, have been unusually well received. Both these compositions were written by Richardson and held for the exclusive use of his orchestra, until finally he has made records of both. "Zum" has been published by Jos. W. Stern, and "Athene" has been put on the market by the Shapiro-Bernstein Publishing Company.

GLEE CLUB TOUR ENDS SUCCESSFULLY

The University Glee Club had the most successful trip in its history when during the week February 15th to 20th, inclusive, it visited the cities of Salisbury, Albemarle, Gastonia, Lenoir, Hickory and Greensboro. Large and enthusiastic audiences at all points, hospitable entertainment on the part of alumni and friends, receptions and dances, all contributed to the enjoyment of the club.

Arrangements for the club were looked after in the different cities by alumni, under the leadership of Stahle Linn, '07, at Salisbury; Tom DeVane, '14, at Albemarle; Geo. B. Mason, '13, and W. L. Wetzell, '09, at Gastonia; J. G. Abernethy, '08, at Lenoir; H. C. Lutz, '08, and Roy Abernethy, '06, at Hickory; Herman Cone, '16, and R. M. Vanstory at Greensboro. The concert in Greensboro was given at the State Normal College.

The concerts given were of a high order of excellence, and were productive of much applause. The Salisbury Evening Post, the Gastonia Gazette, and other newspapers made highly favorable comments on the work of the club. Among the star features were Epps' singing of "Perfect Day," Chapman's "All Dressed Up and Nowhere to Go," and the sextette which did a burlesque on the famous "Sextette from Lucia." The Mandolin Club, under the leadership of Wright, and the quartet were also star features. Altogether the work of the Club and the success of the trip reflect much credit on the individual members and especially on Director Preston Epps and Business Manager J. T. Pritchett.

DR. MIMS AT VIRGINIA

At the time Dr. F. P. Venable, of the department of Chemistry, was delivering lectures at the University of South Carolina under the provisions of the exchange lectureship agreement between the Universities of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Vanderbilt University, Dr. Edwin Mims delivered, upon the same foundation, a series of lectures at Charlottesville on the subject "Literature as a Form of Thinking." In commenting upon the exchange lectureships, College Topics spoke as follows:

"We are glad to see a new intellectual comradeship arising among the most representative Southern Universities. Such a system as is planned will bring the most prominent of these Universities into closer contact with each other's life and thought than before. It is a notable tendency nowadays for colleges to be less sufficient unto themselves than they have been in the past, and by contact with one another to broaden their outlook and their usefulness."

Professor William Thornton, of Virginia, will deliver the lectures at the University, April 26-30. His subjects will be: "Accelerated Methods of Analysis Applied to the Strength of Materials;" "The Education which Fits the Boy to Become an Engineer;" "Engineering Problems of the Panama Canal." His coming to the University is looked forward to with unusual interest.

A WIRELESS STATION FOR THE HILL

A radio-station has recently been added to the equipment of the electrical engineering department. The antenna, consisting of an inverted "L" of four phosphor bronze wires, has been installed on the top of the New East Building. A phosphor bronze "rat-tail" connects this to the receiving instruments in the basement of the Alumni Building 150 feet away where a small operating room has been partitioned off in one corner of the electrical lecture room.

For the present the station will be equipped only for receiving wireless messages but designs are now being worked out for sending apparatus to be installed next year. Most of this apparatus will be built in the electrical engineering laboratory by the students in the course in telephone and telegraph engineering.

While the station will be used for practical instruction in radio work as a supplement to the theoretical study undertaken in this course, it has been built largely for use in connection with some investigations in wireless telephony contemplated by the department.

The news of the installation of the station has created no little excitement on the campus, and considerable interest has been stirred up among the technically inclined students. One night recently while a group of students were waiting in the operating room to receive the 10 o'clock time signal and weather report from the Arlington Station at Washington, D. C., some signals were received which indicated the presence of some small sending station close by. Investigation next day uncovered a small and very crude sending station which a would-be Marconi in the Freshman class had installed in the Smith Building.

With the present apparatus, messages from Arlington "come in" very clearly, and no difficulty has been experienced in picking up the Government stations at Key West, Fla., and the high power stations around New York City. When the baseball season starts it is expected that the operating room in Alumni will be a very popular place in the evening as Arlington sends out the big-league baseball scores each night.

SECOND ANNUAL ROAD INSTITUTE

The second annual Road Institute for North Carolina was held at the University February 23-27 under the joint auspices of the department of Civil and Highway Engineering and the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey, Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt presiding.

The total number of men attending the Institute was eighty, besides the students in the Engineering department and the members of the faculty. Thirty-three counties of the State were represented, and visitors from other States participated in the discussions.

Six general meetings were held at which papers and discussions related to the following general topics: (1) Location, Design, and Construction of Roads; (2) Sand-clay, Topsoil, and Gravel Roads; (3) Macadam Roads; (4) Maintenance of Roads; (5) Bridges and Culverts; and (6) State Highway Commissions and their Relation to County and Township Road Officials.

The social features of the Institute were a smoker given the delegates in Peabody Hall and on entertainment consisting of music by the University Mandolin and Glee Clubs and readings by Prof. G. M. McKie.

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT TO LECTURE

As announced previously, Ex-President William Howard Taft, of Yale University, is to deliver a series of three lectures at the University in March. The general subject of the series will be "The Presidency" and the dates will be March 17, 18, and 19.

President Taft has recently delivered courses of lectures before the University of Virginia and the University of Chicago.

OFFICE TELEPHONES INSTALLED

An inter-communicating telephone system has just been installed in the Alumni Building connecting the offices of the President, Treasurer, Business Manager, and Registrar. The instruments were obtained without cost in Durham, having been discarded by one of the factories there after several vain attempts to make them work. They were remodeled in the electrical engineering laboratory by Professor Daggett and installed under his direction. Thus far no trouble has been experienced in their operation and they should prove a great convenience in handling business between these four offices.

Dr. W. C. Coker will give an illustrated lecture on "Across Porto Rico," at Red Springs March 26th.

NEW SYSTEM OF COURSE NUMBERING ADOPTED

At the monthly meeting of the faculty in November a change to take effect in the forth-coming catalogue was authorized whereby a new system will be employed in the numbering of courses. Hereafter courses in a given department will be given two numbers instead of one provided they extend through two terms. That is, history 1, as numbered at present, will be history 1, 2, the odd number standing for the fall term and the even for the spring. In the event that a course extends through only one term, and is counted singly, it will have only one number, an odd number if it is given in the fall; an even number if given in the spring.

In departments such as chemistry, where a number of different subjects are taught, the new plan will operate to special advantage as it will enable the department to arrange its courses logically according to subject matter. For example, the courses in general chemistry may take the names 1, 2; 3, 4; etc., up to 10. The courses in organic chemistry may take the numbers 21 to 30; physical chemistry, 41 to 50. By skipping numbers in this way, provision can be made for the addition and numbering according to subject of any course which may be desired without disturbing the general arrangement of the courses or placing it in the catalogue at the end of the courses previously offered, regardless of whether or not it has any logical relation to the subject of the course preceding it.

At first the system will present the double novelty of courses having two numbers, and courses with usually high numbers, as, chemistry 75, 76, for example. While this may seem odd at the beginning, it coincides with present day practice and will doubtless prove of decided advantage when put into operation.

MCNEIL PRIZE IN HISTORY

A new prize in the department of history of the University has been provided. It is a cash prize of $25 to go to the student in the University writing the best paper on Colonial and Revolutionary history of the sand-hills of North Carolina. Dr. J. G. de Roulhac Hamilton makes this announcement, and says the gift bears the title of the McNeil prize, the donor of the prize reserving his name from the public. This gift adds to the list of prizes offered students in the history department in the effort to further stimulate interest in North Carolina history.

DRAMATIC CLUB ON TRIP

While THE REVIEW is in press, the University Dramatic Club is presenting Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Arms and the Man," in several of the larger cities of the State. The itinerary of the club is Eastern Carolina Training School, at Greenville, March 8, Roekingham, March 9, Charlotte, March 10; Asheville, March 11; State Normal College, Greensboro, March 12.

ON THE LECTURE PLATFORM

During the months of January and February sixty-seven lectures were delivered at points other than Chapel Hill, or were scheduled to be delivered at early dates in March and April, by University professors. Fifty-two of these were for communities in North Carolina; and fifteen were for communities in other States.

Dean M. H. Stacy addressed the Hoke County teachers' association and general public at Raeford on February 26th.

Prof. Zebulon Judd will make the principal address at the Wake County Commencement, Raleigh, April 9th. He will deliver the commencement address at the Anlander high school on May 19th.

Dr. J. M. Booker gave a lecture in Enfield under the auspices of the local Study Club on March 4th.

Prof. G. M. McKie gave his lecture, "Recitals from Modern American Humorists," under the auspices of the city Woman's Club at High Point on February 26th.

Dr. L. A. Williams addressed the Cumberland Teachers' Association in Fayetteville on February 27th. He will deliver commencement addresses at the Iotla High School on April 8th and at the Benson High School on April 20th.

Prof. M. C. S. Noble will deliver commencement addresses at the high schools of Unionville, March 25th, Sparta, March 30th, Seaboard, May 13th, and Manndale, May 15th.

CLASS OF 1898 TO HOLD REUNION

The class of 1898, of which President Graham is a member, plans to hold a reunion on the occasion of the inauguration, April 21. This event promises to be one of much interest and importance. All members of this class should correspond with Mr. E. E. Sams, of Raleigh, who has charge of the arrangements.

BALL MANAGERS FOR 1915

The following men were recently chosen by the senior class as ball managers for commencement: Chief—H. P. Foust; Assistants—G. A. Mebane, E. Y. Keesler, E. T. Lilley, L. A. Blue (seniors), and T. H. Jones and G. M. Long (juniors).

THE ALUMNI REVIEW

To be issued monthly except in July, August, and September, by the General Alumni Association of the University of North Carolina.

Board of Publication

THE REVIEW is edited by the following Board of Publication:

Louis R. Wilson, '99.....Editor

Associate Editors: Walter Murphy, '92; Harry Howell, '95;
Archibald Henderson, '98; W. S. Bernard, '00; J. K.
Wilson, '05; Louis Graves, '02; F. P. Graham, '09; Kenneth Tanner, '11.

E. R. Rankin, '13.....Managing Editor

Subscription Price

Single Copies	$0.15
Per Year	1.00

Communications intended for the Editor should be sent to Chapel Hill, N. C.; for the Managing Editor, to Chapel Hill, N. C. All communications intended for publication must be accompanied with signatures if they are to receive consideration.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION, CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

Entered at the Postoffice at Chapel Hill, N. C., as second class matter.

THE UNIVERSITY IN LETTERS

THE PAPERS OF ARCHIBALD D. MURPHEY. Edited
by W. H. Hoyt. Raleigh: E. M. Uzzell & Co., 1914.

Of much interest to alumni of the University are the two volumes of letters and papers of Archibald D. Murphey which have just been published by the North Carolina Historical Commission. Murphey, who was born in 1777 and died in 1832, was a native of Caswell county. He entered the University in 1796 and after graduation in 1799 was tutor for one year and professor of languages for one year.

He resigned in 1801 to commence the study of law and was admitted to practice in all the courts in 1802. He advanced rapidly to the top rank in his profession and in 1818 was elected a judge of the Superior Court, in which capacity he served for two years, resigning at the end of that time to resume the practice of law which he found much more congenial. He was a most successful teacher of law and was also the editor of three volumes of North Carolina reports.

Murphey's greatest service to the State was rendered as a legislator. He was a member of the state senate from 1812 to 1818 and during that period he was the progressive leader of the State. He is best known for his services in the cause of internal improvements and in the cause of education. His reports on these two subjects are classic and prove conclusively his title to statesmanship of a high order. For his labors he won the titles of "father of the public schools of North Carolina" and "father of internal improvements in North Carolina." He was the first and greatest of the long and noble line of sons that the University has given to the cause of public education. At the time of his death he had projected the most extensive historical study of North Carolina which has ever been proposed and had gathered a great mass of material relating to the history of the State.

To the University he was always deeply attached. To him it was always the necessary head of the public school system which he felt depended upon it. Of the University he said in one of his reports in 1817: "When the pride of the State is awakening and an honorable ambition is cherished for her glory, an appeal is made to the patriotism and generous feelings of the legislature in favor of an institution, which in all civilized nations has been regarded as the nursery of moral greatness and the palladium of civil liberty. That people who cultivate the sciences and the arts with most success, acquire a most enviable superiority over others. Learned men by their discussions and works give a lasting splendor to national character: and such is the enthusiasm of man, that there is not an individual, however humble in life his lot may be, who does not feel proud to belong to a country honored with great men and magnificent institutions. It is due to North Carolina, it is due to the great men who first proposed the foundation of the University, to foster it with parental fondness, and to give to it an importance commensurate with the high destinies of the State."

It fell to Murphey's lot in 1822 to render to his alma mater a valuable service. He was chosen to represent the University in a mission to Tennessee in connection with the land claims of the institution in that State. He appeared before the legislature and was successful in securing a satisfactory settlement.

In 1827 Murphey delivered the first of the famous series of addresses before the two societies, an address which was not only a most valuable contribution to historical knowledge, but was also one of the best of the entire series.

The volumes under discussion contain two hundred and fifty-eight letters written either by him or to him, and what remain of his writings. There is also included the memoir of him written by Governor Graham which appeared first in the University Magazine of 1860. The papers are edited by a great grandson of Judge Murphey, Mr. William Henry

Hoyt, of the New York bar, best known to North Carolina as the author of an exhaustive treatise on the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. The editorial work is of a high order and the volumes form a most valuable and creditable contribution to our historical literature.

ANTE-BELLUM BUILDERS OF NORTH CAROLINA. By R. D. W. Connor, in "North Carolina State Normal and Industrial College Historical Publications," No. 3. Greensboro, 1914.

Readers of THE REVIEW will welcome the appearance of the "North Carolina State Normal and Industrial College Historical Publications," issued under the direction of the department of history and edited by Professor W. C. Jackson. The present issue, number 3, (numbers 1 and 2 are in press) contains a series of lectures by R. D. W. Connor, Secretary of the State Historical Commission, delivered at the State Normal and Industrial College in the spring of 1914. The title is "Ante-Bellum Builders of North Carolina," and covers an introductory sketch of the educational, industrial, and political conditions in North Carolina from 1790 to 1840, followed by a concise estimate of the influence upon the life of the State of Archibald De Bow Murphey, David Lowry Swain, Calvin Henderson Wiley, and John Motley Morehead.

In the introductory survey the author portrays in clear-cut terms the political, economic, and social stagnation of the State during the half century treated. Nevertheless he regards it a seeding time in democracy, education and industry. The sowers are named above. Each made his special contribution, applying each in his turn a much needed stimulus to the sluggish life of the State. To Murphey as legislator, 1812-1818, belongs the honor of introducing the idea of a definite State policy and of focusing public attention upon education and internal improvements. As chairman of the committee on Inland Navigation in the State Senate and chairman of the committee on Inland Navigation in the State Senate and chairman of the State Board of Internal Improvements he developed a legislative program designed to arrest the steady flow of the State's population to the Southwest, to increase its wealth, and free it from economic dependence upon Virginia and South Carolina. As chairman of the senate committee on Education he reported in 1817 a system of public instruction. Murphey's ideas, however, were so far in advance of his contemporaries they failed of adoption. Nevertheless, under his persistent prodding the State showed signs of awakening.

Swain, inspired by the ideas of Murphey, possessed the practical knowledge of men and affairs that enabled him as legislator and governor to carry through the reform of the State Constitution in 1835 by which our political life was democratized and the energies of the people set free. Now it was possible to undertake the things of which Murphey had dreamed.

Calvin Wiley became the creator and leader of the new educational movement and as first Superintendent of Common Schools organized a public school system that wrought a profound change in social conditions and gave North Carolina, between 1853 and 1866, a foremost place in education among the Southern States. In the meantime also had arisen a great practical champion of internal improvements, the other feature of Murphey's original program.

This was John M. Morehead. Under his leadership, particularly as governor from 1840 to 1844, the State adopted an internal improvements policy designed to revitalize its economic forces. Morehead skillfully directed this policy toward wise and generous ends. The grand enterprise was the construction of the North Carolina Railroad, planned as a trunk line from Beaufort harbor to the Tennessee line. As president of the North Carolina Railroad Company Morehead in five years, 1850-1855, achieved the construction of the road from Goldsboro, a distance of two hundred and twenty-three miles.

The fair State edifice in process of erection by these strong ante-bellum builders was soon to be shaken and all but destroyed by the blast of civil war.

READINGS IN POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY. By Francis William Coker. N. Y. Macmillan. 1914.

In recent years improved methods of teaching history and political science have made necessary the selection and publication in compact form of the more significant and important documents in these fields. History has offered the larger opportunity and a wealth of material is now at the hand of every teacher and student. In political science and government, however, less has been done and for political philosophy nothing until the appearance of the present volume, the editor of which is Professor Francis W. Coker, a member of the class of 1899, and now professor of political science in the Ohio State University.

The collection is a decided contribution not only to teachers and their students,—although it is of course primarily a text-book,—but also to those interested in the development of political theory, for it gathers together some of the most significant writings of the following twenty political thinkers: Plato, Aristotle, Polybius, St. Thomas Aquinas, Dante, Marsiglio, Machiavelli, Calvin, "Stephanus Junius Brutus," Bodin, Hooker, Grotius, Milton, Hobbes, Harrington, Locke, Montesquieu, Rousseau, Paine, and Bentham. There is a short but comprehensive introduction to the work of each, with a carefully selected list of references to works bearing upon the subject.

The volume is good to look at, feels good in one's hands, and is admirably adapted to its purposes. Professor Coker's selections are of the best and his editorial work is excellent.

"Educational Administration and Supervision" is the title of a new educational publication of which Charles Hughes Johnston, '98, Professor of Secondary Education in the University of Illinois, Lotus D. Coffman, David Snedden, and James H. Van Sickle, are editors. The first number appeared in January, and the publication is to be issued monthly, except July and August, from the house of Warwick and York, educational publishers, Baltimore, Md.

The purpose of the publication as set forth in the announcement by the editors will be to cover the following fields: 1. State and county systems of education, including rural education and also educational legislation; 2. City school systems, including chiefly problems of city administration, supervision, management, reporting, and educational statistics; 3. Secondary education, including problems of organization, administration, inspection, curriculum making, and internal supervision, management and the pedagogy of different subjects, and including also a consideration of those problems of higher education involving directly the interests of secondary education; and 4. Elementary education, with the problems in this field analogous to those cited for secondary education. Vocational education, school extension, school hygiene, the school as a social center, and the school's co-operative agencies will also be considered.

In the first number, Professor Johnston is the contributor of a twenty-page article, "The High School Issue," in which he presents, in the form of a dialogue, some considerations which should serve as guiding principles in the settlement of the problems of the present-day secondary school system of America.

Dr. L. A. Williams, of the School of Education of the University, is a contributor of two book reviews in the issue. The books reviewed are C. O.

Davis' High School Courses of Study and F. W. Ballou's High School Organization.

"Studies in Southern History and Politics" is the title of a collection of historical essays written by the former students of Professor W. A. Dunning, of the department of history of Columbia University. The volume is written in honor of Professor Dunning and is issued by the Columbia University press. Among the contributors are Drs. J. G. de R. Hamilton, of the department of history of the University, and Holland Thompson, of the department of history of the College of the City of New York. The titles of the essays are, respectively, "Southern Legislation in Respect to Freedmen, 1865-'66," and "The New South, Economic and Social."

L. Ames Brown, '10, White House Correspondent of the New York Sun, is the contributor of "A New Era of Good Feeling" in the January number of the Atlantic Monthly. The article presents a careful and intimate study of the effort of the Wilson administration to promote genuine good feeling on the part of the Latin-American republics towards the United States.

STUDIES IN PHILOLOGY BECOMES A QUARTERLY

With the issue for January, 1915, Studies in Philology, which is published by the University under the direction of the Philological Club, becomes a quarterly journal. The January number contains a critical edition by Professor James H. Hanford of a curious debate play, entitled "Wine, Beere, Ale, and Tobacco." This play has hitherto been accessible only in a rare reprint. Besides being of value because of its numerous contemporary allusions, relating particularly to the manners and customs of the tavern, it has special interest for the student of Elizabethan drama as a survival of the interlude and as a specimen of the minor entertainments in vogue at the universities. There is clever characterization of the chief personages: Wine is a gentleman, attended by his page Sugar; Beere, a citizen, represents the middle classes of the metropolis, and is attended by his apprentice Nutmeg; Ale is of the country, being accompanied by Toast, one of his rural servants, while Tobacco, an innovation in the Elizabethan period, is properly represented as "a swaggering gentleman," very like Captain Bobadil and his glorious company. The play has been edited in scholarly fashion by Professor Hanford, who shows in his introduction the close connection existing between this piece and several well-known Cambridge University plays. The first three editions have been collated for the first time, and the text has been fully illustrated in notes that bear witness not only to the editor's wide reading but also to his sense of humor. The appearance of the book is exceedingly attractive, and two plates, reproducing the title pages of the first two editions, add to the value of this reprint.

The current issue of Studies in Philology begins the twelfth volume of this valuable series, and will add to the prestige already enjoyed by the journal. The first issue of the Studies appeared in 1906, and consisted of a study of Chaucer's Relative Constructions by Dr. L. R. Wilson, now the Librarian of the University. For several years the publication was edited by Professor C. Alphonso Smith, and the issues appearing under his direction bear witness to the careful work in philology done by his students. The third volume is composed of a study of the influence of Hoffman on the tales of Edgar Allen Poe, written as a Columbia dissertation by Professor Palmer Cobb. Several master's theses have appeared in the series, such as Dr. Rhyne's study of the conjunctive plus participle group in English and Mr. Howard's study of the Dramatic Monologue. Professor Royster, who was chairman of the editorial committee from 1910 to 1914, also contributed several papers, notably an edition, with introduction and notes, of a Middle English treatise on the ten commandments. Other members of the faculty who have contributed to the series are Professors Howe, Bain, Towles, Booker, Cross, Wilbur Royster, and Greenlaw. Thus the Studies represent work done in classical as well as in modern languages, while the fact that the club interprets "philology" in the liberal sense of any contribution to the higher study of language and literature is proved by such papers as Professor Bain's careful study of the demonstrative pronoun in Sophocles and Professor Howe's vigorous discussion of recent criticism of Latin literature, thus representing both syntax and literary criticism in the same volume of the Studies.

The April issue is to contain an interesting paper on Methods of Characterization in Terence, read at the February meeting of the club by Professor Henry. Studies in Philology is sent to many universities and scholars in all of America and Europe, and letters frequently come to the club bearing witness to the value of these contributions to scholarship.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, 1801

In spite of the fact that bulletins of the great war are daily being received at the Hill by means of the newly installed wireless station on the New East building and some 200 or more students visited their homes on the 22nd of February, many of them making the first twelve miles of the trip by automobiles, the following letter taken from the recently published papers of Archibald De Bow Murphey, of the class of 1799 and professor of ancient languages, 1800-1801, shows that the campus of 1801 had something in common with that of 1915:

CHAPEL HILL, Feby. 23rd. 1801.

DEAR SIR—

Yesterday being the Birth day of Genl. Washington was celebrated by the young Gentlemen of the University in a way suitable to the Occasion and to the Day. Agreeably to their request, the Faculty have suspended Business on this day, in order to have a Ball in the evening. I lay hold of the opportunity offered by this Suspension to write to the Hermitage: from which place I have received no direct accounts since my return to Colledge. This would have induced me to visit it before this time, had it been in my power. As the Spring comes on, my confinement grows more and more irksome. Shut up within the Walls of Colledge, I long for the beautiful and delightful scenes, which Nature begins everywhere to display: But from which I am entirely secluded. In vain does nature spread her Green Carpet for those who are destined to one perpetual round of Business, from which they have not the Liberty of withdrawing themselves scarcely for a moment. I delight at this Season of the year, to ramble thro' the Fields and Meadows which begin to clothe themselves with fresh Verdure; to walk over Hills and Vallies, where Herbs, Shrubs and Trees begin to blossom. How beautiful must the Hermitage soon appear! And how much more happy, Sir, must you live in such retirement, In conversing with Nature's Works, than those who spend their days in the Hurry and Bustle of the World; who must pass to their Graves, Strangers to that Tranquility and Serenity of Mind which few enjoy, except those who have a Taste for the Beauties of Nature. With what pleasure shall I retire to those delightful Scenes, from the wearisome Avocations of professional Life!

No News has yet been received at this place concerning the election of a President; nor news of any kind which is worthy of being communicated. The Treaty with France is ratified with the rejection of the second Article and a Limitation to eight years. It is said, that Samuel Dexter, the present Secretary in the Department of War, will be the Bearer of the Ratification to France. I hope to see you in the Beginning of April; In the mean time I remain with great respect

Yr. Obt. and Hmle. Sert.

A D MURPHY

John Scott, Esquire
Address: Orange.

THE EDUCATION OF ZEBULON B. VANCE

The following paragraphs are taken from the concluding paragraphs of an article by R. D. W. Connor which appeared in the State press of January 31.

For the University and for the friends whom he had made there—many of whom remained ever his constant and loyal supporters—Vance always felt the sincerest gratitude and the purest affection. Upon his election as governor in 1876, he wrote to Mrs. Spencer:

"You know my heart is with the old University and it gives me real pleasure to be in a situation to be useful to it."

Again, in 1879, immediately after his election to the United States senate, he wrote:

"I thank you most heartily for your letter of congratulation. Amid all the ups and downs of my career, the joys and sorrows which have come to me in the past quarter of a century, my friends in Chapel Hill—yourself chief among them—have never failed to rejoice with me when I rejoiced and mourn with me when I mourned. I have often thanked God for leading my steps when a youth to Chapel Hill where I formed such friendships as have been a blessing to my life."

And, finally, in 1880, writing again to Mrs. Spencer, he says:

"There is no spot in North Carolina with whose people my thoughts have more constantly been and for whose prosperity I have more earnestly prayed than Chapel Hill. * * * My regard for the University arises not only from the kind relations existing between all the people there and myself, but because more is done there toward the true glory and prosperity of North Carolina than anywhere else—more in which I can justly take a pride when talking to strangers."

LEND-A-VOLUME LIBRARY

Under the above caption, Benjamin Wyche, '94, formerly Librarian of the University, contributed an article to the January number of the Library Journal of New York.

The idea presented in the article is somewhat as follows: A great many individuals purchase books.

As soon as the books are read, usually by not more than the purchaser and one or two others, they are placed on the bookshelf and begin to collect dust instead of being put to some good use.

Mr. Wyche proposes to change this system. To do this, he suggests that a number of owners of books in communities which are without libraries organize an association, decide upon a central loaning station, and deposit with it such books as the members do not care to keep on their shelves but which would be of interest to others in the community. In this way library resources of considerable extent could be developed in many communities which otherwise are cut off from library facilities.

The plan is simple. It calls for no additional outlay of funds, and, seemingly, it could be tried out to profit.

COMMENCEMENT ANNOUNCEMENTS

Plans for Commencement, 1915, include the following events and speakers: Baccalaureate sermon, Sunday, May 30, by Bishop J. H. McCoy, of Alabama; Senior Class Day exercises and the annual banquet of the Societies, Monday, May 31; Alumni Day and address, Tuesday, June 1, by R. D. W. Connor, of the class of 1899; a Commencement address, Wednesday, June 2, by Secretary William G. McAdoo.

MRS. W. J. DIXON DEAD

Mrs. W. J. Dixon, for a number of years matron of Commons Hall, died at her home in Chapel Hill on February 9th. Mrs. Dixon had been in ill-health for several months, having had to resign her position at Swain Hall in the middle of the fall term. Medical attention and a complete rest at Johns Hopkins Hospital, while temporarily improving her condition, failed to restore her to health. She is survived by her husband, Mr. W. J. Dixon, and her son, Mr. Sam Dixon, '07.

T. C. BOWIE ELECTED SPEAKER

Upon the death of Emmett R. Wooten, Speaker of the present House of Representatives, T. C. Bowie, of the class of 1899, was unanimously elected to the Speakership for the remainder of the term.

The University sermon for February was delivered on Sunday, the 21st, by Rev. Samuel K. Phillips, of the Presbyterian Church of Oxford.

George Trice, for many years one of the leading proprietors of local shoe shops, died during the month of January.

THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION of the
UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Officers of the Association

Julian S. Carr, '66.....President
Walter Murphy, '92.....Secretary

THE ALUMNI

E. R. RANKIN '13, Alumni Editor

THE GASTONIA BANQUET

In the account given in the February number of THE REVIEW of the Carolina banquet held at Gastonia on December 30th, the names of Messrs. J. A. Capps, '17, A. E. Woltz, '01, and Joe S. Wray, '97, were unintentionally omitted from the list of speakers for the occasion. Each of these gentlemen made an interesting talk, and was heard with close attention by the 51 banqueters present.

WASHINGTON, D. C., ALUMNI NOTES

The University alumni of Washington had a dinner February 25th at the Ebbitt House. This is the first of a series of one a month that will be given.

Dr. R. Appgar, '07 med., is practicing medicine at Seat Pleasant, Maryland.

H. A. Allard, '05, is botanist in the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Wade H. Atkinson, '88, is a practicing physician in Washington.

Lieut. S. T. Ansel, '06, of the U. S. Army, is located at Washington in the Judge Advocate General's office.

W. W. Ashe, '91, formerly with the N. C. Geological Survey, is with the Bureau of Forestry, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Lewis J. Battle, '86, a nephew of Dr. K. P. Battle, is practicing medicine in Washington.

H. H. Bennett, '03, is Inspector in the Soil Survey, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

L. Ames Brown, '10, is connected with the reportorial staff of the New York Sun.

Howard A. Banks, '92, is Secretary to the Secretary of the Navy. He has gone to San Francisco to arrange the navy exhibit at the exposition.

H. E. C. Bryant, '95, is one of the best known reporters in Washington, writing for the New York World, St. Louis and North Carolina papers.

Ex-Senator Marion Butler, '85, and his brother are attorneys in the city.

S. Coopersmith, '10, is bacteriologist in the Bureau of Chemistry.

J. R. Cox, '05, is in the Post Office Department.

R. O. E. Davis, '01, is Soil Chemist in the Bureau of Soils.

Roy L. Deal, '11, is in the Department of Justice.

L. B. Eaton, '82, is employed in the Treasury Department.

M. S. Elliott, '99, is counsel for the Federal Reserve Board.

Dr. Jno. A. Ferrell, '02, who is Secretary for the Rockefeller Sanitary Commission, has been located in Washington, but will remove to New York about May first.

W. B. Ferguson, '98, is Naval Constructor at the Washington Navy Yard.

W. H. Fry, '10, is soil petrographer in the Bureau of Soils, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Emmet Gudger, '01, Paymaster in the Navy, is stationed at the Arlington wireless station at Radio, Va.

E. F. Hartley, '99, is Assistant Chief Clerk of the Census Bureau.

Capt. W. C. Harllee, '97, is officer in charge of target division of the Marine Corps.

THE CLASSES

1856

—Henry R. Bryan lives at New Bern. In his useful life, he has been lawyer, trustee of the University, Mayor of New Bern, presidential elector and judge of the superior court.

1859

—P. B. Bacot is a physician of Florence, S. C.

—R. F. Kolb was until recently Commissioner of Agriculture for Alabama.

—D. P. McEachern is president of the North Robeson Alumni Association, at Red Springs.

1860

—A. S. Barbee, of Chapel Hill, well known to all Carolina alumni and students, has been a justice of the peace for 29 years and a notary public for 41 years. He received his commission as notary public first from Governor Vance in 1877.

—E. J. Hale is U. S. Minister to Costa Rico.

1862

—John W. Hinsdale is a successful lawyer of Raleigh. He received the A. B. degree, along with all the U. N. C. men of '61-'65, commencement 1911.

1869

—Charles F. McKesson is city recorder for Morganton.

1870

—Jacob Battle, of Rocky Mount, formerly a judge of the Superior Court, is a member of the Legislature.

—Charles A. Cook, formerly a judge of the State Supreme Court, lives at Muskogee, Okla.

—Dr. Geo. T. Winston, formerly president, respectively, of the University of North Carolina, the University of Texas, and the N. C. A. and M. College, lives in Asheville.

1879

—Dr. J. M. Manning is a physician of Durham.

—E. P. Maynard is a lawyer of Raleigh.

1880

—Henry E. Faison is a lawyer of Clinton.

—Robert Ransom is a farmer of Weldon.

—Ernest Haywood is a lawyer of Raleigh.

1881

—Dr. A. R. Wilson is a physician of Greensboro. His son, A. R., Jr., is a 1913 graduate of the University.

—Dr. H. B. Battle, formerly director of the North Carolina Experiment Station, is in charge of the chemical section of the Southern Cotton Oil Company's plant at Montgomery, Ala.

1882

—M. C. Braswell is a large merchant and farmer of Battleboro.

—W. B. Rodman is counsel for the Norfolk and Southern Railway and the Roper Lumber Co., of Norfolk, Va.

- G. W. Whitsett is a physician of Greensboro.
- H. B. Peebles is a lawyer of Jackson.

1883

- T. J. Gill has been a bank cashier of Laurinburg since 1893.
- J. R. Beaman is a minister and presiding elder in the Methodist Church, Eastern North Carolina Conference.

1884

- Dr. M. C. Millender is a very successful physician and surgeon of Asheville.
- John L. Borden is a well known furniture man of Goldsboro. His firm is Royall and Borden.
- James Lee Love, a native of Gastonia, winner of the Mangum Medal, is director of the Provident Teachers' Agency, Boston, Mass.
- S. B. Turrentine, winner of the Worth Prize, is president of the Greensboro College for Women.
- James Cole Roberts, a native of New Bern, is manager of the Ampere Electro-Chemical Co., at Pittsburgh. At one time he was professor of metallurgy in the Colorado School of Mines.
- W. W. Long, a native of Weldon, formerly with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is State Agent of Demonstration and Director of Extension at Clemson College, S. C.
- M. R. Hamer is treasurer of Converse College, at Spartanburg, S. C.

1885

- J. S. Mann is superintendent of the State farm and penitentiary, with headquarters in Raleigh.
- W. D. Pollock is a lawyer of Kinston.
- George Howard is a business man of Tarboro.

1886

- John Motley Morehead, former Congressman from the 5th N. C. district, lives in Charlotte, and has extensive cotton mill interests at Spray. He is a member of the board of trustees of the University.
- Clement G. Wright is a lawyer and business man of Greensboro.
- John F. Schenck, winner of the Mangum Medal in his senior year, is a cotton manufacturer at Lawndale. His firm is the Cleveland Mill and Power Co.

1887

- Dr. J. A. Morris is county health officer for Granville County, at Oxford.
- R. T. Burwell lives at 833 Gravier St., New Orleans. He is engaged in the insurance business.
- Haywood Parker, a member of the board of trustees of the University, practices law at Asheville in the firm of Bourne, Parker and Morrison.
- Gilliam Grissom is president of the Boulevard Bank and Trust Co., of Spray.
- W. K. Boggan, clerk of the court for Anson County, is also president of the University Alumni Association of Anson County. He lives at Wadesboro.

1888

- H. W. Lewis is a lawyer in Atlantic City, N. J.
- C. W. Massey is superintendent of the Durham County schools.
- J. C. Martin, formerly a member of the State Senate, is a leading attorney of Asheville. His firm is Martin, Rollins, and Wright.

1889

- J. Lee Crowell is an attorney of Concord.
- Mark Majette, of Columbia, is a member of the State Senate.
- Junius R. Parker is chief counsel for the American Tobacco Co., New York City. The 1913 volume of the Yackety Yack was dedicated to him.

1890

- George P. Howell, now a major in the United States Army, has recently moved from Charleston, S. C., to the Army War College, at Washington.
- C. D. Bradham is a druggist of New Bern. He is principal owner in the Pepsi-Cola Company.
- Thomas A. Cox is a physician of Hertford.
- T. M. Lee is in the insurance business at Clinton.
- Julius I. Foust, sometime superintendent of schools at Wilson and Goldsboro, is president of the State Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro.
- O. L. Sapp is located at Greensboro and is engaged in the practice of law. His firm is Brooks, Sapp, and Shuping.
- Jno. D. Bellamy, Jr., is one of the leading lawyers of Wilmington.

1891

- J. M. Fleming is a leading dentist of Raleigh. He is a former president of the Wake County Alumni Association.
- H. A. Gilliam, of Tarboro, is a member of the State Senate and is chairman of the Senate Committee on Appropriations.
- Rev. J. L. Cunningham has recently been appointed presiding elder of the Durham district of the Methodist Church. Formerly he was director of the School of Correspondence of Vanderbilt University.
- The marriage of Miss Florence Marie Robinson and Dr. W. W. McKenzie, Med. '91, occurred on February 1st at the home of the bride's mother in New Orleans, La. Dr. McKenzie is a leading physician of Salisbury.
- Robert P. Johnston several years ago resigned his Commission as captain in the Engineer Corps of the United States Army. He located in his old home, Asheville, where he is interested in large real estate developments.

1892

- F. H. Beall is located at Ridgeway, S. C., where he has charge of an extensive hunting preserve.
- John C. Rodman is practicing medicine in Washington. He is a member of the State board of medical examiners.
- Frank M. Clarke is practicing medicine at Beaufort.
- T. C. Everett, at one time in the Legislature, is operating a large farm at Laurinburg.
- Frank M. Shannonhouse is practicing law in Charlotte. He is a former recorder of the City Court.
- C. Felix Harvey, a loyal alumnus of Kinston, has recently been elected a trustee of the University.

1893

- Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler of Winston-Salem was in Chapel Hill recently in attendance upon the Mott meetings. He took an active part in making the meetings successful.
- F. C. Harding, lawyer of Greenville, is State Senator from his district, which is composed of Pitt County.

1894

- Nathan Toms, after a successful career as a public school administrator in South Carolina and as a member of the State Board of Education, is now local manager of the British-American Tobacco Co., at Petersburg, Va.

—Thos. C. Smith is a member of the T. C. Smith Drug Co., wholesale and retail, in Asheville.

—J. P. Sawyer, Jr., is a practicing physician in Knoxville, Tenn.

—W. E. Shuford, Law '94, is a lawyer with offices in the Temple Court, Asheville.

—J. R. Price, Law '94, formerly a member of the Legislature, is engaged in the practice of law at Albemarle.

1895

—Leslie Weil is a member of the firm of H. Weil and Bros., dealers in dry goods and general merchandise, Goldsboro.

—John L. Patterson is manager of the Rosemary Manufacturing Co., which operates cotton mills at Roanoke Rapids.

—George B. Wills is a member of the firm of Wills and Marvin Co., general contractors and engineers, with offices at 1170 Broadway, New York.

—Thomas C. Leak, Jr., is president of the Roberdel Manufacturing Co., which owns several cotton mills at Rockingham.

—Murray Borden is in the Bank of Wayne, Goldsboro.

—Fred L. Carr is living in Wilson and is engaged in managing his farms in Wilson and Greene counties looking after his investments.

—A. B. Kimball is a member of the law firm of King & Kimball, Greensboro.

—Charles W. Horne has succeeded to the management and control of his father's large interests at Clayton.

—Paul J. Long is county superintendent of schools for Northampton County, living at Jackson.

—Joe E. Alexander is practicing law in Winston-Salem.

—Bruce Cotten, after a career in the United States Army, in which he reached the rank of captain, has married and settled in Baltimore.

—H. E. C. Bryant, better known as "Red Buck," is one of the most successful correspondents at Washington.

—J. O. Carr is practicing law in Wilmington. He is chairman of the County Board of Education.

1896

—Robert L. Gray is editorial writer for the Columbia (S. C.) State.

—Van Astor Batchelor is practicing law in Atlanta.

—T. F. Sanford with his brother is manufacturing wheelbarrows in Chattanooga, Tenn.

—T. D. Bryson is a lawyer of Bryson City.

1897

—T. G. McAlister is president of the Southern Timber and Lumber Co., of Fayetteville.

—W. W. Horne is a member of the firm of H. R. Horne and Co., druggists, at Fayetteville.

—Joe S. Wray is superintendent of the city school system of Gastonia. He is vice president of the State Association of city superintendents.

1898

—H. S. Hall, Law '98, is sales manager of the General Fire Extinguisher Co., of Charlotte.

1899

J. E. LATTA, Secretary, 207 E. Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.

—R. H. Sykes, a native of Wilmington, formerly secretary of the N. C. Geological Survey, practices law in Durham.

1900

W. S. BERNARD, Secretary, Chapel Hill, N. C.

—Charles G. Rose, formerly a member of the Legislature, is a lawyer of Fayetteville, and is president of the Cumberland County Alumni Association.

—V. O. Roberson is farming at Belew's Creek.

—Joseph Erwin Gant is in the cotton manufacturing business at Burlington.

—Dr. J. M. Lynch is a well-known physician and surgeon of Asheville.

1901

F. B. RANKIN, Secretary, Rutherfordton, N. C.

—B. U. Brooks is a physician of West Durham.

—Plummer Stewart, LL. B. '01, is an attorney of Charlotte.

—O. H. Sumpter, LL. B. '01, is an attorney of Hot Springs, Ark.

—David M. Swink is an electrical engineer at Winchester, Va.

1902

R. A. MERRITT, Secretary, Greensboro, N. C.

—Dr. S. P. Fetter is a physician at Portsmouth, Ohio. He is a regular reader of the ALUMNI REVIEW.

—Dr. A. T. Pritchard, Med. '02, is a successful physician and surgeon of Asheville.

—H. M. Robins is a successful lawyer of Asheboro.

—C. M. Byrnes is a physician of Baltimore, Md.

—Brent S. Drane, an architect of Charlotte, led the discussions in several subjects at the Road Institute held recently in Chapel Hill.

1903

N. W. WALKER, Secretary, Chapel Hill, N. C.

—Robert P. Howell, Jr., is a captain in the Engineer Corps of the United States Army and is stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

—N. F. Farlow is secretary and treasurer of the Deep River Chair Co., at Randleman.

—R. C. Morrow is teaching in a mission school in Mexico.

—John E. Pearson is principal of the Holly Springs high school, of Wake County.

—H. R. Weller is with the Williams Seed Co., Norfolk, Va. Formerly he was with the Garrett Wine Co.

—George Ward is a lawyer at Wallace.

—R. S. Stewart, formerly center on the football team, is a lawyer with a large practice at Lancaster, S. C.

—Dr. H. G. Turner is a successful physician of Raleigh.

1904

T. F. HICKERSON, Secretary, Chapel Hill, N. C.

—William Dunn, Jr., lawyer of New Bern, was elected president of the class of 1904 at the ten year reunion of this class commencement 1914.

—G. A. Johnston, formerly a chemist, is now a farmer at his home near Chapel Hill.

—W. McK. Marriott is Instructor in Bio-Chemistry at the Washington University Medical School, St. Louis, Mo.

—J. H. Vaughan is professor of History and Political Science in the A. & M. College of New Mexico, at State College.

—M. C. Staton is a lawyer of Tarboro.

—E. E. Randolph is professor of German and French at Elon College.

—C. P. Russell is with the Evening Press, New York City.

—Welborn E. Pharr is editor of the Hustler, at North Wilkesboro.

1905

- DR. FRANK McLEAN, Secretary, 115 East 71st. Street, N. Y.
 —Dr. Hubert Haywood, Jr., is successful in the practice of medicine at Raleigh.
 —R. W. Perry is with Gunn's Limited, at Toronto, Canada.
 —A. M. Noble is at Guam, in the consular service.
 —G. L. Tabor is principal of the Rosman high school.
 —B. K. Lassiter is a lawyer at Oxford.
 —Vorno L. Gudger, formerly a 'Varsity football player at the University of Tennessee and later at the University of North Carolina, is a successful attorney, with offices 302 Oates Building, Asheville.
 —J. M. Archer is secretary and treasurer of the Stanley Mfg. Co., cotton manufacturers, at Stanley.
 —W. Cecil Cathey is a civil engineer for the Southern Railway at Charlotte.

1906

JOHN A. PARKER, Secretary, Charlotte, N. C.

- Julian S. Miller, until recently on the staff of the Charlotte Observer, is now Secretary of the Greater Charlotte Club.
 —Dr. W. L. Grimes, formerly a physician with the Protestant Union Infirmary, Baltimore, Md., has located in Winston-Salem for the practice of his profession.
 —I. W. Rose, Ph. G. '06, is a druggist at Rocky Mount. He is a member of the State Board of Examiners in Pharmacy.

1907

C. L. WEILL, Secretary, Greensboro, N. C.

- Rev. W. R. Noe, formerly of Windsor, is now rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Wilmington.
 —Claud W. Rankin, cashier of the Cumberland Savings Bank at Fayetteville, is treasurer of the University Alumni Association of Cumberland County.
 —Stahle Linn, an attorney of Salisbury, proved a capital provider for the Glee Club on the occasion of its recent visit to his city.
 —J. J. Parker, formerly president both of his class and of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, continues in the successful practice of law at Monroe, in the firm of Stack and Parker. He was alumni speaker in behalf of the Di Society at the inter-society banquet during commencement 1913.
 —Thos. H. Sutton is secretary of the Wallace-Ellington Co., insurance dealers of Fayetteville.
 —J. W. Haynes is a lawyer of Asheville and is chairman of the Buncombe County Democratic Executive Committee.
 —J. C. Galloway of Grimesland is a member of the State Legislature, representing Pitt County.
 —Francis Gillam is a business man of Windsor. He is secretary of the Bertie County Alumni Association.

1908

JAS. A. GRAY, JR., Secretary, Winston-Salem, N. C.

- O. R. Rand, Jr., continues as professor of Latin in the Sidney Lanier high school, Montgomery, Ala.
 —Drury M. Phillips is a mining engineer, with the Consumers' Lignite Co., at Hoyt, Wood County, Texas. Sometime ago he and Miss Harriett Blanche Gates, of Watertown, N. Y., were married.
 —Z. H. Rose is superintendent of the public schools of Scotland Neck.
 —J. M. Porter is treasurer of the Virginia Can Co., at Buchanan, Va.
 —W. W. Unstead is superintendent of the Stemmy Department of the Imperial Tobacco Co., of Canada, at Montreal, Canada.

- J. W. Speas is manager of the trust department of the Continental Trust Co., at Atlanta, Ga.
 —Dr. Wortham Wyatt is practicing medicine at Lilesville.

1909

O. C. Cox, Secretary, Greensboro, N. C.

- Under the title, "Representative Men of North Carolina," State News Editor O. J. Coffin, of the Charlotte Observer, is giving to his readers an interesting series of articles on the various professors of the University.
 —J. L. Simmons has entered the University Law School. Formerly he was a special student in Economics at Columbia University.
 —C. W. Howard, Jr., is a wholesale grocer at Weldon.
 —H. C. Barbee has been in public school work in Durham since graduation. He is now principal of the Morehead Graded School.
 —Among the alumni who were at Chapel Hill giving their assistance to the Mott meetings were F. E. Winslow, of Rocky Mount, and C. W. Tillett, Jr., of Charlotte.
 —"E. Bayley," says the 1909 class Bulletin, "is operating a dairy somewhere in Ohio in the proper botanical manner."
 —R. D. Crawford is assistant paymaster for the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., of Winston-Salem.
 —Henry T. Clark is secretary-treasurer of the Scotland Neck Cotton Mills, at Scotland Neck.
 —M. Cunningham is now farming and bird hunting at Kershaw, S. C. He is the father of four children.

1910

W. H. RAMSAUR, Secretary, China Grove, N. C.

- W. A. Darden is with the Standard Oil Company, address 422 West 115th St., New York City.
 —H. A. Gudger, Law '10, is a member of the law firm of Gudger and Gudger, at Asheville.
 —E. C. Barnhardt, Jr., has recently been made secretary of the Gibson Mfg. Co., of Concord.
 —C. Cozette Barbee is head of the English department of the Asheville City High School since September, 1914. He has revived publication of the "Hillbilly," the high school magazine, and has reorganized the school library.
 —W. H. Ramsaur, president of the Y. M. C. A. in his senior year, now with the Student Volunteer Movement, was on the Hill for the Mott meetings and was helpful in making those meetings the big successes that they were.
 —Mrs. Margaret Abercrombie and Mr. Alf. A. Pickard were married on February 20th. Mr. Pickard is engaged in the livery business at Chapel Hill.

1911

I. C. MOSER, Secretary, Chapel Hill, N. C.

- N. Spencer Mullican is engaged in highway engineering work in Davie County.
 —J. S. Boyce is paymaster for the Loray Mills, at Gastonia.
 —F. S. Wetzell continues as cashier for the Southern Railway at Gastonia.
 —B. F. Taylor is a traveling salesman with the J. A. Taylor Co., wholesale dealers, of Wilmington.
 —F. J. Duls, a former pitcher on the 'Varsity nine, is with the J. A. Taylor Co., wholesalers, of Wilmington.
 —Jno. A. McLean is a member of the law firm of Shaw and McLean at Fayetteville. He is Secretary of the University Alumni Association of Cumberland County.

—James A. Hackney, a former centerfielder and captain of Carolina's baseball nine, is with the Washington Buggy Co., at Washington. Formerly he was with the Hackney Buggy Co., at Wilson.

—E. F. McCulloch, Jr., is a member of the firm of Sinclair and McCulloch, lawyers, at Elizabethtown.

—Among the trustees of the University, elected recently by the Legislature, is W. F. Taylor, of the Goldsboro bar.

—B. C. Trotter has located in Spray for the practice of law. He is in partnership with former State Senator, A. D. Ivie.

—Wilson Warlick is a successful attorney of Newton. He is Treasurer of the University Alumni Association of Catawba County.

—W. P. Bivens is teaching at Crewe, Va. Formerly, he was located in Georgia.

—G. C. Mann is engaged in engineering work for the U. S. Government and is at present located in Charlotte.

—S. Kitasawa, M. A. '11, and Ph.D., Johns Hopkins '14, is at Sewanee, Tenn., pursuing a special course in theology.

—R. G. Stockton, an attorney at Winston-Salem, was a valuable member of the alumni group back on the Hill for the Mott meetings.

1912

C. E. NORMAN, Secretary, Columbia, S. C.

—Blake E. Isley is head of the Mathematics Department of the Asheville City High School since September, 1914. He is also coach of the track and baseball teams which are registered for the State contests.

—W. W. Rogers, for two years principal of the Hillsboro high school, is this year principal of the Parrish agricultural high school, at Bahama.

—M. J. Davis, '15, of Chapel Hill, has on sale a few copies of the 1912 Yackety-Yack. Anyone desiring a copy can secure it by sending seventy-five cents to Mr. Davis.

—B. D. Stephenson, winner of the Preston Cup during his college days, is making good in the newspaper field. He has recently transferred his connection from the New Bern Sun to the Raleigh Times.

—A. D. Folger is a lawyer at Mount Airy.

1913

A. L. M. WIGGINS, Secretary, Hartsville, S. C.

—The engagement of Miss Pauline Lawton and Mr. A. L. M. Wiggins, both of Hartsville, S. C., has been announced. The wedding will take place in April.

—A. L. M. Wiggins is Commercial Manager of the Pedigreed Seed Co., of Hartsville, S. C.

—Peyton Smith is working as an engineer on a construction job for the Southern Railway between Charlottesville and Orange, Virginia. His address is Charlottesville. Formerly he was engaged in similar work for the C. & O. Railway between Richmond and Newport News.

—Dr. H. F. Stevenson is a dentist at 229 Longwood Avenue, Boston, Mass.

—Horace Sisk, formerly class Treasurer, is making good as professor of English in the High Point high school. He was a welcome visitor to the Hill recently.

—M. R. Ingram is principal of the Cleveland high school.

—Robert W. Isley is making quite a success as principal of the Poplar Branch high school.

—S. R. Bivens, farm demonstrator for Vance County, at Henderson, was married recently.

1914

OSCAR LEACH, Secretary, Chapel Hill, N. C.

—H. C. Long, Jr., is teaching French and coaching athletic teams in the Blue Ridge Preparatory School, at Hendersonville.

—John C. Holland is in the tailoring business at Fayetteville.

—The Holmes boys are all principals of high schools, each with his school enrolled as a member of the High School Debating Union of North Carolina—Albert at Matthews, James at Townsville, and Ralph at Turkey Knob.

—H. A. Pendergraph is with the Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co., at Durham.

—A. A. Long is principal of the Lewisville high school.

—Lenoir Chambers, Jr., formerly editor-in-chief of the Tar Teel, is teaching English and History in the Woodberry Forest School, at Woodberry Forest, Va.

—F. D. Conroy, of Cullowhee, is studying medicine at Johns Hopkins.

NECROLOGY

1859

—Captain Fred Nash, one of Charlotte's best beloved citizens, died unexpectedly at his home February 16th. For 29 years, from 1872 until 1901, he was city treasurer of Charlotte. During the Civil War he served valiantly as captain of the Orange Guards. Interment was at Hillsboro, the ancestral home of the Nash family.

1879

—Julius Johnston, of Yanceyville, died at his home the latter part of December, 1914. He was a man of much prominence and influence in a large section of the State. He was a lawyer by profession. In 1907, he served as a member of the Legislature.

1902

—Mrs. Mary Groome McNinch, wife of Mr. F. R. McNinch, died at the Presbyterian Hospital, Charlotte, February 22nd. She had been in failing health for some months and had recently undergone an operation in the hope of relief. Mrs. McNinch was one of the most gifted writers of verse in the State. Her poems invariably possessed distinctive elements of excellence, and were noted for their delicacy of touch. She was always a loyal member of the class of 1902.

1903

—Harvey Allen Lambeth died at his home in Charlotte on February 7th. Death followed a period of declining health which began nearly four years ago.

—Mr. Lambeth was 36 years old. He was a native of Fayetteville. He was, at the time of his death, manager of the insurance department of the American Trust Co., which position he had filled with remarkable success. He had a keen insight and splendid business ability. He was very popular with all who formed his acquaintance.

1900

—Emmett R. Wooten, of Kinston, Law 1900, and member of the Board of Trustees of the University, died in Raleigh Saturday, February 27th, as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile wreck on Thursday, February 18th, in which William T. Aycock was instantly killed and Senator R. D. Johnson was slightly injured.

Mr. Wooten was born in Craven County November 2, 1878.

He studied at Wake Forest and completed his course at the University of North Carolina, being admitted to the bar in 1900.

After receiving his license he became a member of the State bar association and was three years city attorney of Kinston. He was county attorney two years previous. He became a member of the lower house in 1909, and remained in that body until his death.

In the lower house he held important positions in every session and by virtue of those honors and his undoubted sympathy with the spirit of Democracy today, he became a formidable candidate for the speakership. Against a field of uncommonly able men he was elected on the opening night of the General Assembly.

As speaker his administration was marked with the utmost good feeling. In the 40-odd days that he handled the gavel he made no ruling from which any appeal was made, nor one decision that called for any question.

Mr. Wooten married Miss Nannie Cox 10 years ago and she survives, with two children. He leaves a mother, too, with one surviving member of a family of 11 children.

1910

—W. R. Edmonds, Judge of the city court of High Point, died at Albuquerque, New Mexico, at 4:30 o'clock on the morning of Thursday, January 21, and was buried at his home in Mt. Airy, N. C., on Wednesday, January 27.

Mr. Edmonds became ill one year ago. For a time last spring he was thought to be improving, but it became necessary in the summer for him to withdraw from his duties. In the fall the change to New Mexico was resolved upon and thither he went firmly believing that his health would be restored.

It was two weeks ago that his wife of not quite two years received a message that called her to his bedside in the far-away state of New Mexico. She made the long trip alone, and arrived four days before the end.

Judge Edmonds had a short but brilliant career. He graduated from the University in the class of 1910. As a student he was described as "A philosopher of the mountains." He stood high in student life. Within a few months he was licensed to practice law, first going to Rowland, this State. From there he went to High Point, and in a short time was honored with the judgeship of the Municipal court.

In 1913 he was appointed a trustee of the University. He was universally liked and had hundreds of friends, who regarded his future as full of great service.

A SPLENDID CLIP-SHEET

The News Letter published weekly by the Bureau of Extension of the University of North Carolina is about the liveliest clip-sheet that comes to this office. It is packed full of stuff about the new sort of good things that ought to come along in North Carolina.—North Carolina Education.

CAMPUS AND TOWN

The University alumni in attendance upon the Laymen's meeting in Charlotte held a banquet on February 18th.

The enrollment of students in the University for this year has reached 1020.

Odell Hardware Company

GREENSBORO,
NORTH CAROLINA

Electric Lamps and Supplies
Builders Hardware

DEPENDABLE GOODS

PROMPT SERVICE

ATISFACTORY PRICES

H. C. Wills' Hardware Store

Lowe Bros. High Standard Paints
Calcimo Sanitary Wall Coating
Fixall Stains and Enamels
Floor Wax, Dancing Wax
Brushes

PHONE 144

FRANKLIN AND COLUMBIA STREETS

FOR NEAT JOB PRINTING AND TYPEWRITER PAPER

CALL AT THE OFFICE OF

THE CHAPEL HILL NEWS

Raleigh Floral Company

CHOICE CUT FLOWERS for ALL OCCASIONS
Write, Phone or Wire Orders to Raleigh, N. C.

CHAPEL HILL AGENTS

Wiley M. Rogers, Jr.

Miguel Elias

KODAK SUPPLIES

Finishing for the Amateur. Foister

